

UNDERSTANDING INTERSEX: A 101 TRAINING FOR EVERYONE

TWO HOUR WORKSHOP

Intersex people are 1.7% of the population who are born with sex characteristics that are different to how we typically understand men and women. They are a diverse population, with unique needs and challenges that are quite different to the rest of the LGBTIQ+ community. Unfortunately this has meant intersex is commonly ignored or misunderstood in LGBTIQ+ frameworks.

Join AGA's Intersex Project Workers for a deep dive into intersex issues and advocacy. With a focus on lived experience and more meaningful allyship, this training is a strong first step to understanding a complex and vulnerable population. A must for any organization or individual looking to build LGBTIQ+ competency.

What are the core issues facing intersex people?

What does meaningful intersex advocacy and inclusion actually look like?

How can your services be more inclusive of our community?

What do intersex people want you to know about them?
